BOLD KIDNAPING SCHEME EXPOSED

Samuel Consantino, an Italian, a Prisoner at the County Jail.

SYMONS' SON IS CHOSEN

Unfolded His Plans to a Supposed Friend, Who Laid Them Bare Before Detective Murphy--Believed to Be Dangerous.

Detective Jerry Murphy yesterday unearthed a plot to kidnap, which, if it had not been nipped in the bud, might have resulted in a sensation rivaling the celebrated Cudahy case of Omaha, in which Pat Crowe was one of the principal figures. As it is, Samuel Consantino, an Italian, is a prisoner in the county jail with more than a mere suspicion resting against him.

The information on which Consantino was arrested was furnished to Mr. Murphy by an Austrian, well known in Butte, to whom the prisoner had unfolded his scheme of kidnaping, and whose services he had solicited to aid him in perfecting his plans and in carrying them into execution.

His Plans in Embryo.

Consantino appears to have had no definite plan arranged and had not definitely decided upon whom to choose as a victim of his nefarious work. He approached the man who gave the information under the impression that the latter was his friend and would enter heartily into the plan which he revealed, and which promised to result in an easy accumulation of wealth. As told by Consantino's supposed friend, and whose name is withheld for the present by request of Detective Murphy, the plan was to kidnap the child of any wealthy resident of Butte, holding it in ransom until a stipulated sum had been paid over. According to the story it was immaterial to Consantino what family was chosen, while at the same time he had several wealthy parents on his list, any of whose children he would have kidnaped if the opportunity had presented itself, and if his scheme had not been exposed. He had only deferred execution until he had secured the aid of two or three accomplices.

Had Selected One Victim.

It is known that one of the persons who had been selected for the practice of his kidnaping scheme was Harry Symons, vice-president of the Symons Dry Goods company, and that it was designed to carry off the young son, two years of age, of the latter. This selection was made about ten days ago, and Consantino has been seen watching the residence of Mr. Symons, 815 West Park street, several times within that period, in an effort to secure possession of the child. The work of kidnaping would have been carried out but for the fact that Consantino's Austrian friend communicated his knowledge to Detective Murphy, who has has also kept a constant watch upon the premises, and who made the arrest while the culprit was sneaking about in the neighborhood early in the evening.

It is also known that Consantino had his plans laid for the kidnaping of other persons, in the event that his first chosen victim could not be entrapped, and that he had made numerous inquiries concerning the daughter of one of the prominent wealthy widows of the city, and who is expected to shortly return to Butte from an eastern seminary.

Off for St. Paul.

Concerning the proposed kidnaping of the Symons child, it is known to the police that Consantino had so far perfected his plans in this case that he had purchased a ticket for Saint Paul, the point to which he intended going with his prize, and that after he practically came to the conclusion that he would fail, he sold the ticket to a ticket broker, who, it is expected, will identify him.

Consantino is a rough-looking Italian, of the brigand order, about forty years of age. He has tendered the information that he came from Chicago, where his wife still resides, about nine months ago. While in this city he has followed the occupation of peddler, and it is presumed that he used this occupation as a blind and in order to make a tour of the residence portion of the city in selecting his victim. He professes to be ignorant of the English language, and assumes the innocent air of men of his nationality belonging to the criminal class.

It is believed by the police that Consantino has a long criminal record, and his photograph will be widely disseminated among the principal cities of the country, in an effort to trace his career.

PRETTY LUNCHEON FOR MANY GUESTS

MRS. HARRY SYMONS ENTERTAINS AT HER PRETTY HOME IN WEST PARK STREET.

MRS. L. COHEN HONOR GUEST

Decorations in Green and Pink Transform Dining Room Into a Bower of Beauty.

An elegant affair of the week in society was the luncheon given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Harry Symons at her handsome home in West Park street.

The luncheon was in honor of Mrs. Lem. Cohn of Salt Lake, who is the guest of Mrs. J. Openheimer in this city.

Those present to meet Mrs. Cohn were: Mrs. Openheimer, Mrs. A. T. Morgan, Mrs. Al. Wertheim, Mrs. Geo. Symons, Mrs. Epping, Mrs. Will Symons, Mrs. Harry Richards, Mrs. Charles Heilbroner.

In the decorations green and pink were the favorite colors, the diningroom was made into a miniature summer house with trellis and creepink vines entirely covering it. Smilax feil gracefully from the roof of the garden and green ribbon wound around the frame of the trellis made the picture more complete. Beneath was the beautifully appointed table in its dress of snowy linen, with a large "H" outlined in pink, the letter being a compliment to Mrs. Cohn, whose first name begins with H. Exquisite bits of art were used as placards. These were water colors on heavy bristol with a scroll and burnt background; on each was also in pink flowers the initial of each guest.

The favors were carnations. Over the table softly shaded lights added color tone to the decorations and carried out the idea of a luncheon in a greenhouse as the shades of evening fall.

Mr. Arthur Marks Is Recipient of Farewell by Mrs. Harry Symons.

Mrs. Harry Symons was hostess at a smart 12 o'clock breakfast given on Sunday in compliment to Mr. Arthur Marks, the popular young manager of the Grand theater, who is now visiting his mother in Seattle. The affair was in farewell compliment.

Mrs. Symons has a reputation for dainty and chic entertaining, and her breakfast was in accordance with the fame of the hostess. The decorations were in pink carnations, and the appointments smart and elegant—covers laid for six.

The guests were: Mr. Arthur Marks, Mr. G. Cady, Mr. Mansel Boyle, Miss M. Rawlins of Salt Lake and Miss J. Gindrup.

Tiny Misses Entertained.

Six fairylike little ladies were entertained on Wednesday afternoon in the daintiest kind of a manner by Misses Hazel Gindrup and Fay Feldberg, at the home of Mrs. Harry Symons, 813 West Park street. A bean hunt was first in order, and the sweetly gowned little maidens presented a series of bright-colored moving pictures while hunting the hidden beans. For finding the most, baby Evelyn McNevin was awarded an Egyptian doll. Then came a new and unique contest, that of pinning a pretty paper doll on a bicycle, which had to be in the proper place on the wheel. In this little Maudie Weirick was given the first prize, a pretty peasant doll. A feast such as babies delight in was served in due time, and each little guest was made happy with a souvenir box of candy. There were present: Evelyn McNevin, Margaret Lowry, Marjorie Mattison, Maudie Weirick, Helen Lehman, Frances Symons and Hazel Gindrup and Fay Feldberg.

INER: SUNDAY MORN

was perfect, this was voted one of the most enjoyable meets of the series.

Mrs. Harry Symons Entertains.

The distinction of giving the first private theatricals in an opera house in the city rests upon Mrs. Harry Symons, who entertained in a novel way about forty of her friends on Friday evening at the Grand Opera house, the invitation list including only the relatives and their guests.

The beautiful edifice was brilliantly lighted and presented a gala appearance, with the handsomely-gowned guests and decorations of foliage and palms.

The souvenir programs were unique and artistic, being printed on silver and red satin ribbon, the following being a copy:

Soiree, directed by Mrs. Harry Symons. The occasion being the American debut of Mlle. Mansel Vardaman, the world-renowned Parisian favorite.

1. Overture, by orchestra.
2. The Star—An inimitable characterization of that well-known society leader, "Hannah From Savannah."
3. Drea Johnstone, vocal solo, "September."
4. Mrs. E. B. Weirick, in enjoyable recitations:
   (a) "Prior to Miss Belle's Appearance."
   (b) "The Pilot's Story."
   (c) "Baby's Soliloquy."

INTERMISSION.

5. Overture, orchestra.
6. Mlle. Mansel Vardaman relates that "Ah Wants to Be the Leading Lady."
7. Little Hazel Gindrup, Butte's Cissy Loftus, will kindly ask, "Bill Bailey, Won't You Please Come Home?"
8. The favorite in "La Belle Parisienne."
9. A repetition of the magnificent production that crowned the Overland minstrels an artistic success, "The Sunflower and the Sun," with Geraldine Forbis, Drea Johnstone, Florence Twohy and Hazel Gindrup.

Each number received the most enthusiastic applause, the singers kindly responding on each occasion to encores. arranged to resemble a roof garden and ing the entertainment. The stage was arranged to resembel a roof garden and a very cool and summer-like appearance it presented. In conspicuous places were placed cards with different announcements, for instance, "Take automobile to cafe on fifth floor;" "Don't jolly the leading lady."

The entire ensemble was so picturesque and so out of the ordinary that this event will go down in the social records of the city as one of the foremost affairs of the season.

Mrs. Symons was handsomely gowned in an ivoire panne crepe, trimmed in lace applique and medallions.

After the program was finished a sumptuous midnight supper was served on the stage under the supervision of a local caterer, the guests lingering at the table until the early morning hours, when they departed, each carrying the happiest memories of a very delightful evening.

MUNICIPALITIES TO HOLD CONVENTION

Notice was received in Butte by the city clerk of the seventh annual convention of the League of American Municipalities to be held in three days' session at Baltimore, beginning October 7. A copy of this will be presented to the city council at its next meeting for action by that body in the matter of Butte representation.

CADY-GINDRUP NUPTIALS.

A quiet, though perfectly appointed wedding took place at ten o'clock yesterday morning, when Miss Julia Gindrup, sister of Mrs. Harry Symons, was united in marriage to Mr. G. O. Cady at the residence of the bride's sister in West Park street. Reverend S. C. Blackiston read the service which united them for life. Only the immediate relatives witnessed the ceremony. The bride was prettily gowned in a white seeded voile trimmed in stitched taffeta bands and lace. A wedding breakfast followed the ceremony, covers being laid for nine. The table was adorned with a graceful arrangement of bride roses and ferns. The bride is a charming young woman, whose many sweet, womanly qualities have endeared her to a host of friends, who wish her a long life of prosperity and happiness.

The groom is a worthy young man well and favorably known in business circles, having been connected with the Symon's Dry Goods company for several years. There were present at the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Harry Symons, Miss Laura Gindrup, Miss Jennie Gindrup, Miss Hazel Gindrup, Mr. Otis Cady and the officiating clergyman. After the wedding breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. Cady left on the noon train for Hunters Hot Springs. When they return they will be at home at 737 West Park street.

SYMONS COMPANY BUYS OUT THE LEWIS STORE

One of the Largest Business Transfers of Recent Years in This City Consummated Yesterday--Purchasers Take Possession This Morning--Clerks to Be Retained.

One of the largest business transfers made in this city in years was consummated yesterday when J. E. Oppenheimer, H. E. Oppeheimer, Harry Symons and William Symons purchased from W. C. Lewis and O. K. Lewis the stock and fixtures of the Lewis store, located at Park and Academy streets. The consideration was not given out.

Last night at six o'clock the Lewis store closed for the night and all time. This morning at nine o'clock the Symons store opens in its stead. The old force of clerks remains, the goods are practically unchanged, but from now on the store will be known as Symons'.

For several days past the deal has been under consideration. Not until yesterday, however, did the contracting parties reach an agreement. Late yesterday afternoon the sale was consummated.

Last evening the store presented an exceedingly busy appearance. A force of men was engaged in removing a quantity of goods from the basement of the establishment, articles that had not been included in the purchase, and transfer wagons were chasing back and forth removing the goods from the establishment to other quarters.

J. E. Oppenheimer president of the Symons company, was at the new store last night personally directing the work of removal and preparation for today's opening. Harry Symons was also there, as was J. A. Cohen, advertising manager.

"It is yet a little early to outline our plans definitely," said Mr. Oppenheimer at the store last evening. "We have purchased the stock and fixtures and intend to reenter business here. The store will open tomorrow as usual, with but few changes.

"Most of Mr. Lewis' clerks will be retained. We will accommodate as many of our old employes as possible, but the building is hardly large enough to care for them all. However, this may be done later on."

W. C. Lewis, president and active manager of the Lewis Dry Goods company stated last night that he had no plans for the future. He did not know whether he would go into business again or not.

"My old clerks will all be cared for," said Mr. Lewis last night. "It was stipulated in the contract that the old employes of the Lewis Dry Goods company should be retained and taken care of. My employes have worked faithfully for me and I intend to see that they are accorded proper care."

Advertising Manager Cohen, of the Symons company, stated last evening that the establishment would open as usual this morning.

"We want to get a line on things and tomorrow it will be run in the same maner as the Lewis store. There will doubtless be some changes and improvements made, but I can say nothing about that until later."

In purchasing the Lewis store, the Symons company is fulfilling a promise made shortly after their store on Park street was wiped out by fire, a little more than two weeks ago. At that time Harry Symons, and later President J. E. Oppenheimer, stated that the company would soon be doing business again. Scarcely more than a week ago President Oppenheimer arrived in Butte from New York. Yesterday the deal was consummated that places the Symons company once more in line with the biggest establishments in the city.

The Symons company has been doing business in Butte since 1897. Their first store was located in the Shodair block, on Park street. Later they

MR. SYMONS ON WAY HOME

May Announce Plans of Company in Respect to Building.

Harry Symons, of the firm of Symons Dry Goods company of this city, is expected to arrive home tomorrow night from New York city where he went immediately after the big fire which destroyed the store on West Park street. At the time of Mr. Symons' departure for the east it was announced that his purpose was to arrange for rebuilding the property of the company which was destroyed by fire, and it is expected that he will, upon his arrival, state just how soon the work of rebuilding is to begin.

HARRY SYMONS MARRIED.

The many friends of Mr. Harry Symons will be interested in learning of his marriage, which occurred in New York City last Wednesday. His bride is Miss Bessie Roth of New York, who is said to be very beautiful. Mr. and Mrs. Symons are spending their honeymoon in Atlantic City and other points in the east, and it is very likely that Butte people will have the opportunity of meeting the bride in the near future. They will return to Butte early in the fall.

BEN E. CALKINS AND MRS. M. G. SYMONS QUIETLY MARRIED

Ben E. Calkins and Mrs. Marie G. Symons gave their numerous friends a surprise last evening by being quietly married at the residence of Mrs. Symons' sister-in-law, Mrs. Fred R. Hinkle, 808 1-2 West Galena street. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. J. Groeneveld of the First Presbyterian church, and was witnessed by relatives and William T. Jackson, an intimate friend of Mr. Calkins, who acted as best man. Miss Jennie Gindrup, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Fred R. Hinkle gave the bride away. Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Calkins left on a wedding trip to Hunter's Springs.

BEN CALKINS BETTER; WILL RETURN TO BUTTE

Well-Known Merchant About Recovered From Illness. Writes From California.

Benjamin E. Calkins, Butte's well known merchant, who left for California some time ago for his health, is now on the road to complete recovery and expects to be back in Butte before many weeks. This is according to a letter received yesterday by E. O. Reif of the Calkins store from Mr. Calkins.

"You may tell all inquiring friends that I am gaining strength every day and feel like taking long walks every day," writes the Butte merchant. "But the doctor forbids me exercise until I have finished my course of treatment. This I hope will be over in the course of the next week."

Mr. Calkins, when he wrote the letter, was stopping at Paso Robles Hot Springs. From there he will go to Del Monte. At Del Monte he will have a chance to witness some championship golf play. A day's stop will be made at Santa Cruz, from where he will go to San Francisco. Mr. Calkins will probably be back in Butte before the first of next month.

ORGANIZATION FOR EMPLOYES

Benjamin E. Calkins, County Chairman of the War Savings Committee, Gets Whirlwind Start From Merchants.

Under the directions of Benjamin E. Calkins, county chairman of the National War Savings committee, 19 teams, known as the "War Savings societies," were organized in the various Butte business houses yesterday. The idea of this campaign, which is to continue for several days more, is to encourage the sale of the thrift and war savings stamps, or in other words, blocking the path of Germany's one ambition—to dominate the world.

"The interest that is being shown by the employes in the business house in regard to this work is encouraging and we believe that the majority of them will be enrolled in this organization before the week is over," said State Advertising Manager J. R. Spencer last night.

Harry W. Turner Speaks.

At the Hennessy Mercantile store E. A. Brown was elected president and the five committeemen named to carry on this campaign for today were: Hugh Messner, Mr. Garland, Mr. Torrance, Mr. Black and Mr. Ashford. Interesting speeches of a patriotic nature by Harry W. Turner, Mr. Enright and Mr. Hardcastle accompanied the installations.

At the Symons store William S. Symon was chosen as honorary president; H. J. Lonsky, president, and Charles Sitzer was named as secretary. Attorney Carl J. Christian delivered an able discourse urging the employes to become members of this organization and thus render patriotic service to the United States government.

The Savin Lisa Grocery company on East Park street was the scene of another meeting and the organization at this place will be known as the "East Side War Savings society," of which George Pritchard was elected president and E. J. Moyle, secretary and treasurer. E. C. Smith was the speaker at this place. This organization will meet next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Allen & Darnell store and decide upon a permanent location for the further meetings.

Many Not Reported.

At the Connell store Dan Coleman was elected president and Miss Ferrn, secretary.

At the Woolworth store Mr. Boardman was named as president and Miss Rogers, secretary.

The Montana Power company formed another large society, which will be known as "At Your Service War Savings society." Jock Roach was elected president and Rubin Hobbs secretary. Attorney Frank J. Walker and C. W. Merrilles, assistant to State Director Harry W. Turner, were the speakers at this place.

The south side people interested in this campaign congregated in the Harrison avenue theater, which had been elaborately decorated for the event, and heard interesting speeches by Joseph Griffin and Earl Genzberger. Immediately after the lecture P. J. Bennetts was elected president and Carl G. Arthur was inducted into office as secretary.

Dr. Alfred Karsted Is Summoned Suddenly From Heart Condition

Dr. Alfred Karsted, 72, widely-known Butte physician and surgeon, leader in fraternal circles and prominent civic worker died Monday morning at a local hospital. Death resulted from a heart attack. He had entered the hospital only Sunday.

Dr. Karsted had been suffering from a heart condition for several months. A year ago he underwent a major operation from which he never entirely recovered. However, he was able to continue his general practice and on Saturday called on his patients and handled his office practice as usual.

A past president of the Montana State Medical association and a past state president of the fraternal order of the Sons of Herman, Dr. Karsted had an extensive acquaintance throughout Montana and he was held in high esteem by the medical profession and laymen alike.

News of his passing was receive Monday with the deepest regret b his legion of friends in Butte, wher he had practiced his profession fo the past 45 years.

A native of Munich, Germany, h came to this country when a la with his parents. They located o the west coast and he entered Stan ford university at Palo Alto, Calif for a pre-medical course. Later h attended Johns Hopkins medica school at Baltimore, Md., fron which he was graduated wit honors.

Coming to Butte soon after th turn of the century, Dr. Karste soon became known as one of th best tennis players in Butte an the state. On several occasions h won the city singles tennis cham pionships and once captured stat honors in both singles and doubles He was also an expert volley ba player and became one of the to ranking players at the Butte Y. M C. A. when it conducted a league i that sport some years ago. He als was a good golfer but gave up tha sport several years ago. His interes in tennis, however, continued an he was active in the sport up to couple of years ago. On several oc casions he served as president of th Butte Tennis club and was a pas president of the state association.

In addition to his membership i the state medical association an the Sons of Herman, he was a mem ber of the American College o Physicians, the American College o Surgeons, the Silver Bow Medica society. He was associated wit the medical staff of the Murra hospital for many years. He main tained his office in the Rialto build ing and for the past decade or mor had made his home at the Y. M C. A.

He was a member of Butte lodge No. 22, A. F. and A. M.; Butte con sistory of the Scottish Rite of Free masonry; Bagdad temple of the Shrine; the Masonic chorus and the Bagdad temple chanters. He joined the Butte Rotary club in 1922 and on numerous occasions served as a member of the board of directors.

The surviving relatives include three sons and two daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Karsted of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Karsted of Great Falls and David Karsted, who is a student at Columbia university in New York city; two sons-in-law and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Little, with the Army of Occupation in Germany, and Mr and Mrs. J. W. Finden of Seattle Wash.; four grandchildren, Patricia and Susan Little with their parents in Germany and Philip, Jr., Joseph Finder, Jr., and Michael Karsted of Great Falls. There are also several cousins in the East.

The body was removed to Whites funeral home. Funeral arrangements are pending the arrival of relatives.

PHYSICAL DESCRIPTION: Describe present appearance of structure/site, then contrast and compare that with it's original appearance, noting additions, alterations, and changes in materials. Discuss significant architectural features.

This 2½ story rectangular Victorian residence-flats with an asphalt shingle hip roof has a concrete foundation and is of frame construction with brick veneer siding. Windows are double hung one over one and fixed with transom. There are two brick chimneys, one exterior and one interior. There are segmental brick arches and brick sills; a bay projecting from the original front facade; the 2nd story of the new front porch is enclosed; and a random coursed ashlar retaining wall topped by an ornamental iron fence fronts the property.

There is one flat roof double bay garage with built-up roofing and novelty drop siding to the rear of the home. The entire frontporch structure including the new roof has been altered.

HISTORICAL INFORMATION: Describe the persons, important events, and/or historical patterns associated with the structure/site and surrounding area.

The 1923 Polk lists Dr. Alf Karsted, a physician and surgeon, as residing at 815 W. Park. Also listed is Leroy J. Chanley, a railway postal clerk, and F.J. Cleary, proprietor of the Ocean Bar.

Perhaps not the original, but an early owner/occupant of this building was Harry Symons, the Vice President of Symons Dry Goods Company. Symons began business in Butte in 1898 at 66-80 West Park and also had offices in N.Y.C. William S. Symons, the president of the company lived across the street from Harry at 804 W. Park, the present location of a gas station.[1]

Footnote Sources:
Polk, 1923, 1904
Daybook, 1903

INTEGRITY: Assess the degree to which the structure/site, and surrounding area accurately convey the historical associations of the property.

Alterations such as the new porch form have compromised the integrity of what was originally, probably a bay fronted flat. However, the addition was of appropriate materials and scale so as not to warrant labeling this structure as greatly altered. The majority of its integrity remains.

HISTORICAL and/or ARCHITECTURAL SIGNIFICANCE: Justify how the persons, important events, or historical patterns associated with structure/site lend the property significance and/or describe the ways in which the structure embodies the distinctive characteristics of a particular period, building type, or style.

This building is a Contributing element of the Butte Historic Landmark District as a representative of a Victorian residence.

These residences, though not as ornate or complex in form as the Queen Anne, are elegantly detailed buildings constructed for Butte's middle and upper middle classes.
